$4,887,500 IS FIXED AS REPUBLICAN GOAL

Quotas for States Total That Amount, Says G. O. P. Treasurer.

MAY NOT RAISE ALL

Largest Gift $5,000, and Only Two Others that Are as High as $2,500.

By United Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The quotas assigned to the various states by the Republican party to defray all campaign expenses total $4,887,500, according to Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican national campaign committee, testifying before the Senate investigating committee here today.

This sum, he declared, represented every cent which it was planned to collect from the various states. He said it was about twice the amount which they expected to collect. He declared these figures were determined in 1919.

On the demand of Senator Reed of Missouri, the spokesman for Cox, Upham readily agreed to submit these figures. All the Republican members also agreed to this procedure, as they said that they would show that all the charges that Cox has made in his Pittsburgh speech were all untrue.

Upham readily admitted that all the quotas for the states have been fixed but he said that they might be changed at any time. His testimony also brought out the fact that $500,000 of the total amount was a part of the Senate fund, which is not to be included in the total budget.

Upham declared that there is nothing to prevent the states from raising any amount they wish to raise after they have fulfilled the amount which has been levied upon them by the national organization.

Upham vigorously denied all the charges that Cox had made that there was a $15,000,000 campaign fund and that there are sinister interests attempting to exert their influence and buy the presidency.

Simon D. Fess of Ohio, chairman of the Republican campaign committee, followed Upham to the hearing and declared that there were no large contributors to the fund as has been charged. He said that there was one who had given $5,000 and that there were two who had given $2,500 each. He declared that there were no other large contributors and that the average contribution was $40.

Congressman Fred A. Britten of Illinois followed. He had made charges that the British government was supplying funds to the Democratic party under the guise of an entertainment fund for the British ambassador in Washington, declaring that $87,500 was the amount which had already been furnished. When called upon to prove these charges he asked that the committee call Thomas W. Lamont of New York. Lamont is the publisher of the New York Evening Post.

Cox Denies Hays' Testimony.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 31.—Governor James M. Cox in a statement here today said that all the statements which Chairman Hays of the Republican national committee had made at Chicago were untrue.

TAMED SQUIRRELS WITH FIDDLE

Ferocious Animals Were Subdued by George Galloway's Music.

"The Rube of the World," "King head and crowning feature" of all the world attractions, "The best fiddler in creation." These are a few of the modest claims of George Galloway, Taney County, Mo., 75 years old, who says that he was born in the heart of the Ozarks "along Bull Creek near Wood's Fork on the left hand side of Reno as you walk north."

Galloway is a wee man wearing a soft, crush hat, and a thin ribbon of red whiskers circling his face. Quaker fashion, and travelling from ear to ear in a half moon by the chin route. The whiskers are thin and, although they have forgotten to grow in certain spots, they show ambition.

The modest man from Taney County talks in this way: "I won the blue one at the fair in Sedalia—run them all out, band and all came out when they heard my fiddle. I got a fiddle! I took ribbons off them fiddlers as they come to me. Fiddle all my life. Used to tame the squirrels back home."

Galloway is a good native "fiddler" of the woods. He entertained the passengers while he was waiting to take the afternoon Wabash to other parts where "he would shine without a peer."

George says he travels from coast to coast to make the world happy. He says that he does not need a press agent—don't know what one is. "Folks know when I arrive," he asserted.

VACATION IS PERIOD OF TOIL

Teachers "Make Hay While the Sun Shines"—Some Literally.

By United Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—America's army of public school teachers will return to the classrooms next month richer and wiser lot. For they have been making hay while the sun shone this summer—many of them literally, others figuratively.

When high price waves hit the ranks of the pedagogues last year, thousands of them were forced to seek employment in other branches of endeavor, while hundreds of others obtained part time work to aid in keeping the wolf from the door until the session of school was ended. Still others resolved to draw on their already salted-away resources and to stick out until the summer vacation arrived, then to spend the hot months in working to put the money back.

ENROLLMENT FIGURES LACKING

University Officials Unable to Give Number of Students Yet.

The rush of students enrolling in the University yesterday and today has made it impossible for the clerical force in the registrar's office to total the enrollment figures, it was announced late this afternoon. Neither was an estimate of the probable number enrolled available when other registration officials were questioned.

The work accompanying the registration is proceeding without serious delays, although the force of clerks handling students in the main auditorium is somewhat short. It was expected, however, that the main portion of the work would be completed tonight.

That the enrollment will be little larger than that of last fall is the opinion prevailing in most circles today.

Class work is to start tomorrow.

ALLEGED MURDERERS HERE

Boys Who Killed St. Louis County Officer Drove to Columbia Recently.

George Paar, Dave Burke and Willis Millard, held in St. Louis for the murder of Eugene Conrey, night sheriff of St. Louis County, and Benjamin Corner, Clayton marshal, Sunday night, were in Columbia about three weeks ago.

The young men told of driving here from St. Louis and back in an Oldsmobile, saying that they spent some time in Columbia. St. Louis police have been making efforts to learn whether or not there were any unusual incidents happening in this vicinity in which an Oldsmobile figured. Local police say, however, that nothing of this nature occurred and that they did not notice the party while in Columbia.

Several holdups were reported near Fayette about three weeks ago, and it was said an auto party committed the offenses.

WILL DEPRESS PRICE

Farmer Will Pay For Increase in Rate by Effect on Wheat.

Wheat prices west of New York will be depressed by the increase in freight rates. This is the belief of W. T. Anderson of the Boone County Milling Company. He does not say this depression will be more than temporary. "But the farmer is going to be made to pay for the raise in rates through a lowering of the price of his wheat," said Mr. Anderson.

A strong bullish report was sent out to all grain men from Chicago last week showing that half of the 1920 yield, amounting to 140 million bushels, has already been exported and the other 70 million is sold for exportation. The only reserve is 111 million bushels of carry over from last year. The report says that this reserve is the only thing that will prevent wheat going to "unheard of prices." The prediction is made that wheat will go above war prices before the next crop comes to market.

In commenting on this report Anderson said: "I don't know. Nobody knows. There are too many complications to be sure of anything in the market."

More than the usual number of Boone County farmers have held back their wheat this summer, it is said. The following figures, compiled in a special study of Missouri wheat marketing by farmers by the Missouri Co-operative Crop Reporting Service, would show that 54.2% of the state yield is still in the hands of the growers.

The figures show that for the eight years, 1909 to 1917, inclusive, 23.4% was marketed in July, 39.4% in August, 11.8% in September, 16.2% in October, 7.4% in November, 5.8% in December, 5.1% in January, 4% in February, 3.5% in March, 2.5% in April, 2.6% in May, 2.9% in June.
